Message from Mr. Ohshiro

Fearless. Be fearless.

We're often faced with things which just scare the pants off us. We get worried because of uncertainty and then we concoct fear-based scenarios, which are more often than not exaggerated and incorrect; making us ten times more fearful than what we feared in the first place.

I've been there.... MANY times...

But I had the heart of fearlessness to push me through the difficult times. I knew if I just kept BELIEVING in myself and not BELIEVING in the fear, that I could and would overcome it. In the end, it's really how you defeat the inner fear which brings out the strongest warrior within you.

Our Enagic mission is to abolish the fear in others. Society teaches people that, somehow, they "lack" something, so they live in fear, create untrue stories in their minds about that fear and continually repeat the ugly fear-based cycle. We are here to learn how to become fearless and teach others to do the same. To teach them that they don't have to listen to society and that they CAN have the lives they dream of.

We are here to teach them to be fearless in pursuit of robust physical health.

We are here to teach them to be fearless in pursuit of rewarding financial health.

We are here to teach them to be fearless in pursuit of positive relationship health.

Ours is a mission of conquering the way we are told "things have to be." We're here to be fearless revolutionaries, to positively change society and empower people. As we arise as a fearless family of strong health warriors, we'll then be powerful enough to look back and stretch a helping hand to others.

Join me in BEING fearless. Join me in helping OTHERS to be fearless. And join me in dancing in the freedom of a fearless life!

Let's Change the World!

Three Generations of Enagic Success!

Throughout life, there are many times when an opportunity is either presented to someone, or created by hard work and dedication. Either way, it's important to be able to take a leap of faith, when the person you're betting on is yourself. In the case of Kyoko Nakamura, she took a life-changing gamble by traveling from her home country to the city most well-known for gambling, Las Vegas. Sixty years ago, at the age of twenty-one, Nakamura traveled to the United States on a three-month performance contract for the "Holiday in Japan" show in Las Vegas, Nevada. She worked hard to put on the best show she could, but she played even harder.

Naturally, being twenty-one in Sin City created many opportunities to indulge in the "show business" lifestyle. The party atmosphere she was constantly surrounded by led to her drinking and smoking, which as a result, led to liver and kidney troubles. After the performance contract was over, she returned to Japan and opened a restaurant, looking for a change from her previously glamorous and high-profile lifestyle. As it turned out, there are some things that do not stay in Vegas once you leave. She was constantly physically and mentally exhausted, but she pushed on through the pain and exhaustion by thinking of the future she wanted to create. Eventually, the desire to return to the United States became too strong to resist as she thought back fondly to her times in the land of the free. This led her to make a decision that would alter her life path for the rest of her life.

She moved to Los Angeles in hopes of finding a new start, and a new start she did find. In 2003, she was introduced to Kangen Water and the amazing benefits it could provide, both hydration-wise, and financially. "Even to this day, I cannot forget the impact the first demonstration had on me. I was so excited once I heard all about the benefits of Kangen Water as well as the generous compensation plan Enagic had to offer."

Having run her own business in Japan, Kyoko knew full well the potential for success she could attain with Enagic after only a single demonstration. Which is why she decided to purchase her own machine and start her Enagic business immediately after this life-changing demonstration. In only a year, she achieved the rank of 6A and, having been involved with Enagic for thirteen years now, has become one of the top earners in Enagic. Now, she looks to the future and hopes to live to 100, so that she may continue helping people with things like the Genki Club, a location she opened that has Enagic demonstrations, dance classes, cooking demonstrations and community engagement activities.

The success Nakamura found was not ignored by her children, who saw their mother go through a powerful business metamorphosis. As such, they too wanted to get involved, creating a now multi-generational Enagic Empire. While Kyoko Nakamura was building her business, her daughter Ai Eastman began drinking the water. She too experienced incredible benefits and decided to move forward with Enagic as her career. Ai was already very busy, being a mother of 5, so Enagic's opportunity appealed to her immensely. After all, it's not every day a chance comes along that can provide great financial benefit and plenty of family time as well. As such, all of her children began drinking the water, and two of them are even "Kangen Babies," having drank the water since birth.

Enagic became so prevalent in Ai and her family's life, that in 2015, Ai's daughter Emi Eastman also joined the now three-generation Enagic empire Kyoko Nakamura created in 2003. While Emi feels so blessed for the success her, her mother and her grandmother have found, the knowledge of Kangen Water and the many health-related topics that were brought to light has inspired her to pursue a career as a medical physicist specializing in cancer research at the esteemed University of Southern California. With so much success for Kyoko, Ai and Emi, its no surprise that they all think of Enagic very fondly. All three of them agree that Mr. Ohshiro's message of True Health is incredibly inspiring, and are proud to have spread it to as many people as they have. Now they look forward to being able to help the world even more by continuing to educate people about Kangen Water and True Health!

ENAGIC UKON

PRODUCTS, PRODUCTION & PROCESSING

There's an old saying, "Good things come in small packages," meaning that the size of something isn't always an accurate depiction of its value or worth, and when it comes to Enagic's Ukon products, this could not be more true! Enagic has managed to pack quite a bit of power into our Ukon products, which start at our own modest production facility, which we often refer to simply as the Enagic Ukon Factory. The Enagic Ukon production plant is a registered food production facility by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, registration number 18161996856. While the high level of safety, quality control, cleanliness, and operation of this facility is a standard practice for us, it is also affirmed by meeting the requirements of our FDA registration.

The facility serves as the hub for all processing and production of the Enagic Ukon products, including the Ukon Sigma supplements, Ukon Tea and Ukon Soap, which all contain turmeric as a main ingredient. For centuries, turmeric has been widely used as a spice, medicine, food and a coloring agent across large parts of Asia. It has been revered in India, not only due to its eye-catching color and unique flavor, but also because of the extensive range of health benefits which are associated with it. In fact, turmeric is often referred to as the 'Spice of Life'! But what exactly is Turmeric and why is it good for the body?

Recent research from around the globe has deemed turmeric as highly effective for treating various health issues. It also contains plenty of healthy nutrients such as protein, dietary fiber, niacin, Vitamin C, Vitamin E, Vitamin K, potassium, calcium, copper, iron, magnesium, and zinc.

Also known as lipopolysaccharide, turmeric can help to stimulate and strengthen the body's immune system. This is because it is full of antibacterial, antiviral and antifungal agents which work together to fight against colds, flu and coughs, helping the immune system stay healthy and strong. If you do find yourself suffering from cold or flu-like symptoms, try a hot, soothing cup of UKON Tea and let it help you feel better.

It's also great for pain relief and inflammation. When it comes to pain relief, many people around the world rely on anti-inflammatory medication, such as ibuprofen and aspirin, to relieve the symptoms of headaches, backaches, and other muscular aches and pains. While these medicines are effective at relieving pain and inflammation, they may also lead to many adverse side effects, especially with long-term use.

In fact, the side effects of the long-term use of anti-inflammatory medications include, but are not limited to, nausea, diarrhea, gastrointestinal bleeding, hypertension (high blood pressure) and may even pose an increased risk of heart attack.

You may be wondering, how can turmeric help with inflammation? Actually, it helps in the exact same way as anti-inflammatory medications, such as ibuprofen, but without the side effects. Drugs like ibuprofen work by inhibiting an enzyme, COX-2 (Cyclooxygenase 2), which causes inflamed areas of the body to become painful and more inflamed. By blocking this enzyme, the medication blocks the pain and reduces the inflammation. Unfortunately, more and more health concerns linked to these medications are being discovered each year.

Turmeric works well as an anti-inflammatory because it contains high levels of a compound called curcumin, which is also a COX-2 inhibitor. However, while turmeric has the same positive effects as the anti-inflammatory medicines, it rarely causes side effects.

The turmeric used by Enagic is grown in an area at the northern tip of Okinawa, known as Yanbaru. This region is often referred to as "nature's treasure" (shizen no takara) in Japanese. The Spring Ukon, harvested exclusively for the company, is grown on dedicated farms in Yanbaru.

The Ukon Sigma is the world's first dietary supplement ever produced by combining curcumin, Kangen Water and 100% additive-free Spring Ukon essential oils. The patented, 100% plant-based softgel capsule* is made complete with antioxidant ingredients such as olive oil, perilla oil, flaxseed and tocotrienol. Innovative packaging technology is used to repel moisture and prevent oxidation. Other turmeric supplements oxidize quickly upon opening, but not ours. Each capsule is individually packaged and stays preserved until it is removed and ready to be taken.

The Enagic Ukon is made with precise attention to every detail involved in the cultivation process to deliver the healthiest ingredients to you in a natural manner. It is a unique product developed as a result of continuous research on the body, health, water and antioxidant benefit.

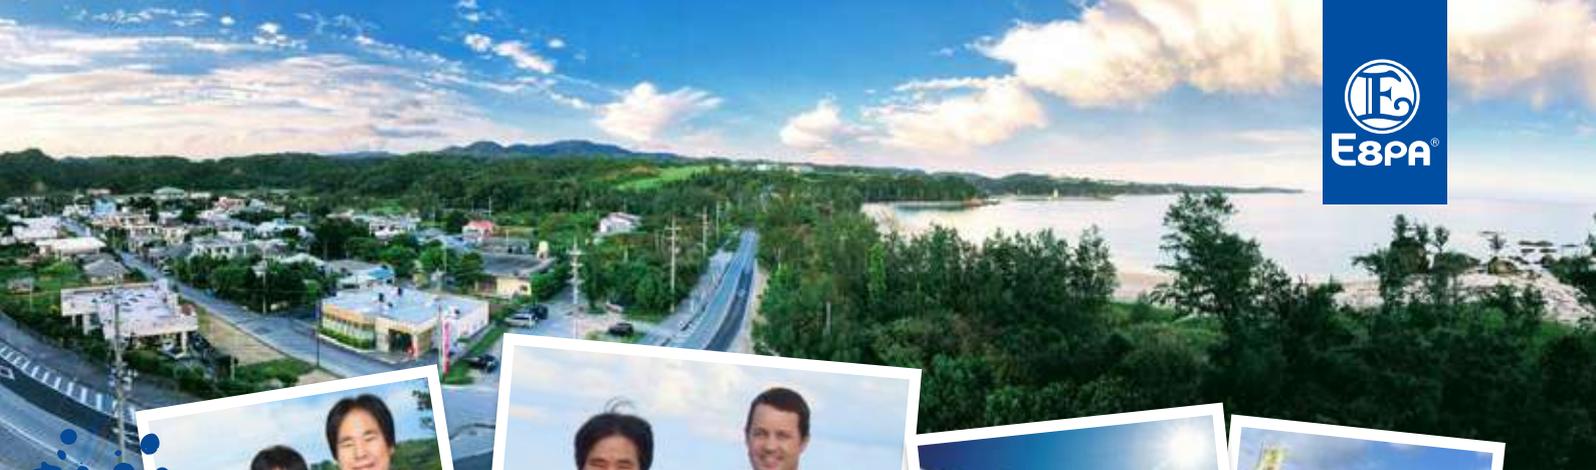

In addition to the Ukon supplements, people can now enjoy the benefits of turmeric in the Enagic Ukon tea, which has been found to offer many immune-boosting benefits. Enjoyed either hot or cold, tea made from Ukon contains an abundant amount of curcumin; it has no preservatives, artificial colors or additives.

Enagic offers different options for purchasing the Ukon products. The most recent addition and one of the most popular options is an annual Ukon subscription, called the Ukon Sigma New. This option allows a distributor to only have to renew their subscription once a year, instead of three times a year; and it automatically qualifies the ordering distributor for the Special Points for one year from the date of purchase. The Ukon Sigma New subscription also qualifies as a full product point purchase, unlike the Ukon DD, which has a value of 1/3 of a product sale each time it is renewed. These points are accumulated and applied toward rank advancement and advanced rank qualifications.

The Ukon Sigma New can be ordered as only Ukon capsules or as a Combo Package, which includes Ukon capsules, Ukon Tea and bars of Ukon Soap... the choice is yours!

*Fish oil version also available in some countries.

WHO IS E8PA?

I think folks might mistakenly ask, "WHAT is E8PA?" However, a much better understanding can be gleaned by asking "WHO is E8PA?"

I founded the Enagic 8 Prosperity Association to once and for all proclaim my HIGHEST wish. I want to CHANGE society. I want to help the underdog. I want to provide opportunities to those disadvantaged people who might not otherwise have had any chance at all.

It took years of planning and a careful eye on how we would release the E8PA concept for me to feel comfortable. I have very high hopes and I want E8PA to be the epitome of what we do here at Enagic. After all, it's the very essence of what "Kangen" means (to give back or repatriate). I feel now is precisely the time to unify with my distribution force of over 1.6 million families worldwide in order to empower and expand E8PA's reach into society.

For that reason, I promoted Don Prosser to lead our E8PA efforts. Don just finished up a one-year assignment as President of Enagic Japan where he taught new and different methods for Enagic distributors in Japan to expand their teams. He also brings to light over thirteen years of experience with me, studying my life-code and my beliefs on the true mission of Enagic. Don gets the heart of Enagic.

E8PA is a movement that I need YOUR help with. If we are going to change the world, and I really mean CHANGE with power, we need to have an "other-centered philosophy." Instead of asking "what do I get," we need to be asking, "How can I pay it forward?" My entire life- maybe because I grew up in Okinawa where we just naturally give what we have, expecting nothing in return, I've asked how I can help the underdog. I didn't come from a rich family, I never attended college, indeed there was no silver spoon in my mouth. And I suffered the ill path that society said I HAD to follow.

I rebelled against this. I didn't like the caste characterization that society told us we had to fall in line with. I certainly didn't like hearing that I was "limited" or "forbidden" from following my dreams. After all, they were MY dreams and only I had the right to inhibit or ignite them.

So the real question comes back to WHO is E8PA? It's akin to asking "What is the NY Giants football team?" It's more important to ask WHO'S on the team? Who adds up to the plays the Giants run, the teamwork they edify and the success they enjoy? I also want YOU on the E8PA team. I want YOU wearing the jersey of E8PA social revolution. And I definitely want YOUR village, your town, your country to know that YOU are involved in the most powerful manner to help out your common neighbors.

And I'm going to accomplish this with ENAGIC People! We are going to spread Kangen Water all across the globe so that EVERYONE knows that by Changing Their Water, THEY Can CHANGE Their Lives!

So, the question is, are YOU E8PA and will YOU help me change society for the better? I'm counting on YOU!!

The First Lady 6A

Throughout history, some of the greatest people have achieved world renowned status by chasing a dream. Whether it was to become a great athlete, or a prominent member of society through business, dreams have been the fuel for countless individuals to push themselves above and beyond their known limits. This idea follows suit with the journey that Enagic distributor, Nigora Ismailova, took to achieve new heights and levels of prosperity she had never experienced before.

Prior to her work with Enagic, Ismailova was a managing partner for a Petroleum and Tourism company, so the daily grind of the corporate world was no stranger to her. She understood what hard work truly was and how much effort it took to keep a business running. It wasn't just business she was contending with though, as she was also a dedicated and doting single mother. All of these things lead to an extremely busy lifestyle that left her wanting more family time and she knew that it would take something incredible to create the time she so desired.

6A Nigora Ismailova

As if guided by fate, she met successful Enagic distributor Sam Sia, who introduced her to Kangen Water and Enagic. After only a short time, Ismailova could tell that Enagic was something special and decided to move forward on purchasing her own machine and starting her own business.

As soon as Kangen Water and Enagic came into her life, she saw an abundance of opportunities stretched out before her, as well as the exact things she needed to have the life she had always wanted for her and her children. Her first goal was to spread the word and potential of Kangen Water and Enagic to women in similar situations to her. After all, it had done wonders for her, so she was sure it could do the same for other women as well.

Ismailova worked diligently and, after tireless hours of immense effort, created the empire she had dreamed of. Now she felt a happiness she had previously never thought possible. Not only was she able to provide for her kids and herself, but she also had much more free time to live the lifestyle she had always wanted to. Since her beginnings, she has now turned her Enagic business into a global endeavor with team members in Russia, Ukraine, CIS, GCC, Germany, USA, and in Kazakhstan. Her goal of creating an elite team of powerful women has come to fruition by becoming the first female 6A in her region, and helping countless others achieve their dreams through Enagic's generous business model. Her motto has always been "The more you serve, the more you succeed." It's this motto which has helped her expand her Enagic empire to many distributor-run Kangen stores, as well as other successful distributors who attribute their success to Ismailova's guidance.

"It fills me with joy to see all the smiling faces I've helped create. I thank Enagic so much for the opportunity and want to help Mr. Ohshiro spread the message of True health to even more people. Having worked in the corporate world, I know how cutthroat business can be sometimes, which is why Enagic's ideologies resonate with me so much. It's rare to find a company that prizes helping others over helping themselves. Since day one of my exposure to Enagic and Kangen Water, I've had nothing but admiration and belief in this amazing company and their incredible product!" Ismailova plans on spreading her business to even more countries, along with Mr. Ohshiro's message of True Health in hopes of giving many more people the opportunity to change their life for the better, just like she's been able to!

True Health Seminar

In business and life, the fall season can sometimes be a sign of slowing things down and taking it easy, but for the Enagic distributors in Indonesia, it is a time of hard work in hopes of creating a prosperous holiday season, as well as a comfortable start to the New Year. In mid-September, an event was held in a large meeting room at the Grand Arabia Hotel in Banda Aceh City, Indonesia. The event was put on by 6A5-4 Andhyka Sedyawan and 6A3-3 Rini Septa Handayani; it also featured Sedyawan as a speaker, as well as Kaz Yokoya.

The seminar covered how the Japanese populace has been able to maintain their healthy and youthful appearance through Kangen Water. The almost two hundred people in attendance were massively impressed with the information presented and left with a new understanding on life. Rizal Risma, one of the excited attendees said, "You know, sometimes just hearing things isn't enough and you really have to see results to believe. After a truly wonderful event, I can't help but feel that this opportunity and the amazing Water it provides is an absolute necessity. After all, the price of one of these Enagic machines is cheap if you compare it to the price of your health!" It was clear to all those present that the history of Enagic and it's positive influence on the Japanese populace ran deep and could provide those same benefits worldwide if we work together to spread the message of True Health.

A week later, another seminar was held in a massive meeting room in the beautiful Ratu Hotel in Jambi City, Indonesia. The event brought in a staggering crowd of almost three hundred health-minded individuals to learn from Kaz and Andhyka. The information was once again met with critical acclaim as those in attendance were astounded by the deep and rich history Enagic has with Japanese residents. It became clear to event goers that this wasn't some simple fly-by-night fad, but a truly revolutionary step in revitalizing and maintaining one's health.

Dwi Ramadhain, one of the events' excited attendees, was quoted saying, "To be honest, it had been a long while since I last talked to anybody about Kangen Water. This event was integral in reigniting my passion for Enagic. As more and more information was presented to me, I was reminded of what made Enagic and Kangen Water truly special. It became clear to me by the end of the event that there were still plenty of people that could be helped in Jambi City, and I wanted to be the one to help them! I cannot wait to help spread the message of True Health with more passion and compassion than ever before!"

If it wasn't obvious before, it certainly became obvious to those watching the spectacular event; true success comes from caring about your fellow man and sharing with them the power and prosperity which can come from Kangen Water. In the end, that's all Enagic strives for, sharing the secrets that have kept the Japanese citizens young and successful to the world, so they too can share in the incredible and life-changing moments that Mr. Ohshiro's message of True Health can bring the world!

Leadership Advance

There are many business-minded individuals who feel the best way to get experience and knowledge is to fully immerse themselves in the business. This is the exact reason why 6A9-4 Triyadi Joko Cahyadi, along with the help of Enagic Indonesia, put on a three-day 501 System Advanced Leadership Workshop from September 20th to the 23rd. It was here that almost one hundred determined and excited 4A's and Above gathered to learn from some of the top industry leaders. Speakers included 6A2 Arie Tedja, 6A Kevin Pratama, 6A Ima N Annisa, 6A2 Erik Adhi, 6A2 Indra Ashoka, 6A2 Arina Molitha, 6A2-2 I.K. Mantra, and 6A2-3 Yutu Sukari. With such a wide variety of speakers with a massive amount of experience in the industry, it was clear that incredibly insightful information was to be shared.

The speakers covered topics that would help propel event goes forward and bring great success to their businesses. Speakers addressed, "how to run your Enagic business effectively and how to grow your team into an empire; how to build assets through the Enagic business; how to speak to clients; how Enagic and Kangen Water can help you in the most efficient manner; and the power of sharing dreams with others. They even covered a rarely spoken of topic, the experience of running an Enagic business as a couple-specifically spouses. These topics were specifically chosen in hopes of providing guidance and information to the next generation of Enagic leaders. This wasn't just some average informational event though.

The second day was filled with fun activities promoting communication and networking. They asked that attendees try and meet forty strangers and get their contact info in a single day. If that wasn't already an amazing test of skill, they also challenged them to try and gain entry into a popular Indonesian theme park, Jatim Park, without spending a dime of their own money. It was the event planners' goal to show these up-and-coming success stories that they could do far more for themselves than they believed they could. When all was said and done, the event received critical praise! Attendees said they had gained knowledge and experience that would be indispensable in the years to come. They also praised the workshops' structure and activities, as they gave the opportunity to not only meet Indonesian leaders, but also reveal how much they were truly capable of succeeding.

The event was a massive success that will be remembered for years to come. A truly revolutionary product, exciting and knowledgeable speakers, and opportunities not found anywhere else made for the perfect recipe for prosperity at the 501 System Advanced Leadership Workshop. With more people than ever discovering Enagic and the opportunities it can provide, it's more important now ever to share business-building information and Mr. Ohshiro's message of True Health to the next generation of Enagic distributors!

BIG Things are in Store

In a business opportunity like the Enagic direct distributor program, it's important to not only have support from corporate staff, but also fellow distributors. The most important thing to do when trying to find the best way to service your community is to take the first step, and that's exactly what Sheri and Earl Stephens have done.

Over the past five years, Sheri and Earl have been working hard to put Louisiana on the map and changing lives along the way. They truly believe that "teamwork makes the dream work," and they are doing just that.

Together with their team members, the stephens' amazing group has hosted several large events, like the Cajun Conference, Super Saturday Trainings, as well as regularly scheduled water presentations and team meetings.

In the last 2 years, they have helped inspire a multitude of distributors to open their own water stores, which has led to tremendous growth for the region. These Louisiana distributors saw a need and made the decision and strategic moves necessary to provide a location for other distributors to acquire educational resources, Kangen Water, and hold events. These institutions are indispensable facilities which help spread the message of True Health to a wider audience, while providing crucial support to local distributors. While each store is owned by Independent Distributors, these team players are all on the same page when it comes to ethics and integrity, and most importantly, the Enagic Mission.

Kangen Water Store of Metairie - was established by Roberta Fisher, Christine Terranova and Sheri Stephens, and is located in the heart of the New Orleans Metro Area. It's only fifteen minutes from the Big Easy and ten minutes from the Louis Armstrong Airport; making it a prime location since it's such a heavily trafficked area. The spacious office, with a 1126 sqft showroom, three smaller offices on the first floor, and the 300 sqft conference room upstairs, makes it ideal for events and demonstrations. They host demonstrations every Tuesday & Thursday at 6:30 p.m. and a Lunch and Learn on Saturday at noon. They always strive to provide the best for their team and anybody who makes their way to the store. Their motto is a simple, but welcoming one, "Our store is your store!" The doors are always open, and the water is always flowing, creating a relaxing environment that everyone enjoys!

The Water Maiden - is an ambitious store located at 1480 Gause Blvd., Suite J in Slidell, Louisiana. The 900 square foot facility hosts weekly water demonstrations on Wednesdays at 6:30, and also makes water samples available to anyone who invests in their containers. The visionary behind this location is Enagic Distributor, Mia Owen. She, along with integral distributors, Chelsea Simolke, Jill Shulter and Monique Owen have worked hard to provide the very best for their customers. They've instituted a unique policy that encourages water drinkers and demo attendees alike to bring more people to the weekly demos. Within two weeks of trying the water, they ask that you attend a Water demo. After thirty days, they ask that you attend again, but with a guest, in hopes of spreading the knowledge that not all water is created equally. They also host General Wellness seminars that pair very well with Mr. Ohshiro's message of True Health. Their mission is to make not only a community impact, but a global one; and with their goal set on selling 100 machines in a year, they are on track to do just that!

is a 1225 square foot facility at 9267 Cockerham Road, Denham Springs, Louisiana, and was established with one goal in mind: to share the blessings of Kangen Water as well as knowledge of health and wellness. Enagic Distributors Harry Yound, and his fiancé Bridget Napoli have put in tireless hours to ensure they are bringing the best products and most updated information they can for their customer base. They offer twenty-one-day trials for Kangen Water, produced from immaculate Platinum SD501s. They also host Water Demonstrations on the first and third Thursday every month and are always waiting with open arms for new attendees. "Our wish is a simple, yet powerful one. We're confident that our Wellness Water Store is the perfect place for our local distributors to not only brush up on new information, but also bring new, excited Kangen Water drinkers to mingle and learn about health and wellness!"

Kangen Oasis - also known as “The Watering Hole of Mandeville” is located at 4700 Highway 22, Mandeville, Louisiana. This 1600 sq ft store is owned by Jimbo Palmer and his family. They teamed up with Enagic because they want to help other families to receive the message of True Health. Open Monday - Saturday, this family is ready and willing to welcome customers and distributors alike with water-sharing and supplies. They host water presentations every Thursday evening. Jimbo and his wife Melinda, along with their family, are committed to spreading the message of hope and give all the Glory to God.

“Stayin’ Alive with 9.5” The Kangen Water Center - is located at 2128 Washington Street in Franklinton, Louisiana. The owner, Beth Stafford, has been interested in water since she sold water distillers 30 years ago. As a former dance and aerobic teacher of 35 years, she has always been interested in fitness and health. When introduced to the Kangen water, she quickly began to see an overall improvement in her own health and wanted to share it with all her family and friends. Beth’s mission is to educate as many people as she can about the health benefits of proper hydration and the many uses of the various waters produced by the Enagic ionizers.

She says “I know without a doubt that I can help to enrich and improve other people’s lives just by sharing Kangen Water and the amazing business opportunity Enagic has to offer. When customers and friends refer to the water I share with them as “God send,” I know I’m on the right track.”

Hydration Station Water Store - is located at 2600 West Church Street in Hammond, Louisiana, inside the already successful “Berrytown Produce” family-owned-and-operated since 1993. Our mission is to share and teach this amazing Kangen Water technology to as many people as we can, and to help other distributors grow their Kangen business by providing water shares. We also host Water Wellness demonstrations on Saturdays at the Berrytown Office, and on the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of every month at 6:30p.m. at a local restaurant. Store owner, Lucinda Liuzza, has teamed up with Joyce Goodman in hopes of shifting the focus of future generations in realizing Mr. Oshiro’s message of True Health, True Wealth, and True Peace of Mind.

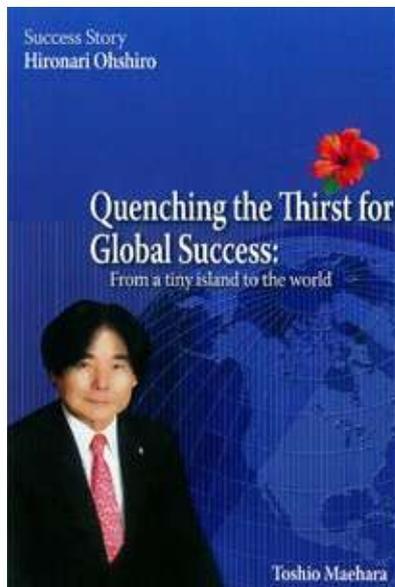

Stories of Success

Ohshiro the Risk Taker

Halloween is celebrated in the United States in October, which is often associated with scary things that can frighten even the bravest person. We thought this was an excellent opportunity to address fear and how it can play a large role in business. The theme for this month is overcoming fear, something that Mr. Ohshiro has not only done, but has mastered. The excerpt below is a perfect example of how, through fearless action, Mr. Ohshiro has achieved what many thought would have been impossible.

"Ohshiro isn't afraid of mistakes. Perhaps it's because of everything he's had to endure in his past. If you become completely hardened to mistakes then you'll never make your way back up to the surface, but if you can use your mistakes to take you to the next level, then they can be an asset. Ohshiro is a risk taker; it's part of what he calls his "science of setbacks." But if you're a risk averter, your fear of failure stands in the way of your drive to move forward. Put a delicious dish in front of a risk averter and their first instinct will be to question whether there's any chance it's rotting.

success. The Country Club may have, in the future, a synergistic effect on the main business of water ionizer sales, as well as local turmeric sales.

Ohshiro is a risk taker when it comes to his staff, too. He'll pick up people who've made mistakes, who've been rejected by others, and give them responsibility. Some people live up to expectations; other don't. But Ohshiro's all about putting them on the job and seeing what they can do. After all, everyone knows it's harder to stop once you've started and reached that certain point of no return. It makes sense to take risks.

But failure is part and parcel of business; risk is always involved, too. Running the Enagic Country Club certainly isn't risk-free, nor is buying up restaurants with real estate; there's no guarantee of success. There's an element of gambling involved. But everything will have been calculated clearly in Ohshiro's head, too. The restaurant that he bought had the potential to become a headache; but now, five years later, it's comfortably on a trajectory to

As the saying goes, "you can't catch a tiger cub without entering a tiger's lair." But Ohshiro takes it a little further; he's a true risk taker, getting right inside the lair and stroking the adult tigers while he pockets their baby. It's not because he has either physical or fiscal strength. It's just his character, his programming, something that all successful people share: no fear."

Power Supply

The Enagic Leveluk series of ionization devices utilize a unique type of power supply in order to achieve the extreme range of power outputs required of these high-quality machines.

In order to continuously generate Kangen Water, Strong Kangen Water and Strong Acidic Water, the highest quality Japanese circuits and engineering is needed. So the engineering team of Enagic set out to create the most powerful and efficient power supply in the industry.

The power supply utilizes a high quality SMPS, Switch Mode Power Supply, which is used to stabilize the electrical current, regardless of input fluctuation, while providing precision power output control, and a metal oxide semiconductor field-effect transistor, MOSFET, which is used for amplifying or switching electronic signals. This combination increases efficiency, maximizes power output, reduces product weight and reduces the heat that a traditional transformer power supply would create.

One of the reasons SMPS is used in electronics is to stabilize current in areas where there is power fluctuation. This is not much of an issue in the United States, as the U.S. power grid is pretty stable, but the rest of the world can't say the same thing. When designing the power supply, the Enagic engineers developed the power supply to accommodate for the entire global market, not just the U.S. market, which is why our devices include this stabilizing technology.

Once the electricity has passed through the SMPS and MOSFET, it is sent to a small transformer, where the current it is converted to a linear type of power; creating an even, consistent flow of electricity. This stable flow of power ionizes the water, regardless of duration or the power necessary to create the selected water. The best way to explain this power supply is as a Hybrid; it's an SMPS with a Post Switch Transformer.

Another aspect of our design of the power supply which makes it unique is the sheer size of the heat sink, which helps cool the ionizer by absorbing and dissipating heat. Our heat sink is the size of the entire power supply, and when it comes to heat sinks, size really does matter. The more surface area that is available to dissipate the heat generated by continuously ionizing water, the better the performance of the ionizer. In simple terms, it helps keep the ionizer from overheating, which is a major problem for many of the other machines in the market.

So why not in the Leveluk R?

The Leveluk R is not required to produce the huge range of power as the other units that make the Strong Acidic Water, so the greater capabilities of the hybrid power supply were simply not needed.

Summary:

Our machines use a hybrid of the highest quality components available, utilizing the two most recognized power supplies in the business, SMPS and transformers. And what does this really mean for our customers? That they get the best of both worlds and an ionizer that is designed to produce the highest quality water in the industry.

Leveluk SD501 the true Continuous Kangen Water Generator.

Here are a few of the Key points about the machines:

- Our machines run longer and more consistently
- Our machines can produce Strong Acidic Water
- Our power supply utilizes highest quality Japanese circuits and components
- Our PCB board layout is done to maximize ionization and use of power
- Our power supply has one of the largest heat sinks in the industry
- Enagic is credited with ISO 13485 Certification for manufacturing medical grade equipment

The Enagic Leveluk series of machines offer the most advanced power supply available and our devices are the best available, which is why the Enagic products are known throughout the world as the “Gold Standard” of the industry.

Road to 6A

Overcome Fear and Boost Your Business!

Enagic is fortunate to have independent distributors with extensive experience in direct sales and the network industry. This experience has become a valuable resource, as these people have taken it upon themselves to share their knowledge with their fellow distributors. This article was created from input of many of these excellent trainers.

The month of October is often associated with Halloween, which almost instantly evokes mental images of scary, moonlit nights, ghosts and goblins running amuck or a hundred other things which go bump in the night. All of these things are meant to be scary, which, for most people, conjure up a very specific emotional response: FEAR! It is safe to say that fear is something we all experience, but how each person handles fear can vary greatly! Some people freeze when afraid, while others may scream and run away. No matter how you react to fear, the bottom line is that overcoming fear can lead to incredible personal and professional breakthroughs.

Unfortunately, many aspects of our daily lives are driven by fear, and this is particularly true for entrepreneurs. This is one of the reasons many people are hesitant to try the Enagic business opportunity. People are afraid that they won't be successful or that friends and family will not be supportive in their endeavor. Many times, we end up creating fear-based scenarios which will never actually materialize, but can influence common sense, which is why a lot of people never even try.

But overcoming fear can not only be personally freeing, it can also be professionally beneficial. In our business there are a few things people fear, but are actually easy to overcome.

1. Public speaking. Many distributors think that in order to be successful they have to become great public speakers. Public speaking is actually one of the biggest fears shared by more people than anything else. While public speaking can be helpful in building your Enagic business, it is by no means an absolute necessity. In fact, there are more than enough distributors who are very good public speakers who will speak about the business, not only on their own behalf, but on behalf of everyone who attends. So if you don't like public speaking, don't worry about it. Just let one of the many talented and well-spoken distributors who enjoy public speaking take care of that part. It is good to try to overcome this fear, even if it is just by gathering and speaking to your team members. Some people in the business started with incredible fear of public speaking, but like anything, with enough time, practice and opportunity, they have become an excellent public speaker, which has also helped their business. So even if public speaking is your biggest fear, it doesn't have to stop you from becoming very successful in Enagic!

2. Talking to strangers. From an early age most of us are warned not to talk to strangers, and as an innocent, vulnerable child, this is excellent advice. Unfortunately, this great advice can also create a fear-based stigma regarding strangers, even into adulthood. As a result, many adults are very uncomfortable approaching and initiating a conversation with a stranger. But think about it like this: even your very best friend was, at one time, a complete stranger. While it may be uncomfortable in the beginning, talking to strangers becomes easier every time you do it. The Enagic business is a sales program and sales is a numbers game, meaning that the more you talk to people about the products and opportunity, the greater the odds are that you will end up with a customer or distributor. Even the most social person has a limitation to their circle of influence, meaning the people who they know and who know them, so the willingness to approach people we do not know will eventually become important. Overcoming this fear may not only help you build your business, it may also help you meet another great friend or a lucrative business partner!

3. Failure. This is another big fear, especially in business. Even the most confident person can have self-doubt, especially if what they are doing is something new or unfamiliar. But the reality is that there are only two ways to fail in business; give up, or never start in the first place. Those are it! Everything else can be managed. Everything else can be figured out. This is not to say that building your business will be easy or that it won't come with its own set of challenges, but it does mean that if you commit to trying and then commit to staying the course, you can become successful. Depending on your goals, your success may take longer than someone else, but as long as you do not quit, you can achieve your desired level of success. Don't let a lack of success in the past or the negative influence of others cloud your mind with thoughts that you might fail. Instead, look around and see all the people who have achieved great success in Enagic. Remember, all these people, even the most successful distributors, all started as a 1A and they probably had some degree of fear, but they put those fears aside and went for it. Failure is mostly a choice, so if you simply choose not to do the things which will ensure failure, you will not fail. It's as easy as that.

We all have the ability to overcome fear, so don't let your fear hold you back. There is an excellent quote from a Will Smith movie, After Earth, which really puts the idea of fear into perspective: "Fear is not real. It is a product of thoughts you create. Do not misunderstand me. Danger is very real. But fear is a choice." Keep this quote in mind the next time you are faced with a business-related "fear" and ask yourself if you are allowing yourself to choose fear over success. If you are, take control and push the fear aside then forge forward to the success that awaits you. It's what you deserve, so don't let yourself down!
